Only in Springfield are 'do-overs' normal procedure

You may have heard the expression about how no proposal ever dies in the General Assembly. There's a good reason for that. On its face, the legislature looks a lot like a sporting match.

There are rules for play, time limits for getting things done, what looks like a well-defined beginning and end (even overtime), and just like in real professional sports, all the contestants have humongous egos.

However, if Sammy Sosa strikes out, he can't ask the umpire for one more pitch. "Do-overs" are disdained in grownup games. It just doesn't seem right that after a long game is over, somebody could say "Wait, I have to replay those last ten minutes."

Wrong. So, maybe that's why it seems odd that some legislation never dies. A bill is voted on in committee and is defeated, but two weeks later it pops up on the House floor, where it goes down again, but then the next day the bill passes and zooms out of the Senate and winds up on the governor's desk.

Logically, when the bill died in committee, that should have been the end of the game. But maybe the sponsor or the interest groups behind it used up a favor with his party's leadership, or maybe the leaders thought they could score some political points by passing the bill. Or maybe the sponsor/lobbyists were just determined that absolutely nothing was going to get in their way.

That was what happened with a group of environmentalists this year. They were hornsawed back in late 1997 when the electric utility deregulation bill passed. As I've told you before, the environmental Law and Policy Center had a commitment from a majority of members in the state Senate to attach a $30 million energy conservation package to the deregulation bill.

At the last minute, though, the folks at the Center were told that Commonwealth Edison and the other big utility companies just wouldn't go along with the conservation stuff. But, they could rest assured that a bill would be passed the following spring to take care of their request.

That "we'll do it next spring" line is one of the oldest tricks in the Springfield book. The idea is to get an interest group to back off "temporarily" so that major legislation can pass, with the solemn pledge that the law will be fixed to their liking the following year.

Well, there's a time-honored saying in Springfield: "Everybody lies." By the time "next spring" rolls around there is no longer any interest in passing the postponed issue because the deal was already cut the year before, and legislators are usually loathe to reopen complicated issues that they only recently managed to put to bed.

The Center was furious at being lied to. They vowed to force the legislative leaders to approve an energy conservation plan, but most observers figured that if the envoys were so naive as to fall for that old "we'll take care of you next spring" crud, then their odds of success were slim indeed. And it didn't look much better when an entire session passed without the slightest bit of action on their agenda.

But nothing ever dies in Springfield, and the greens found a way to come back when Commonwealth Edison found a buyer for its old, pollution-spewing coal-fired power plants. And, oh, what a buyer it was. Com-Ed would get a whopping $5 billion for plants that it believed were worth only a small fraction of that.

The windfall caught the attention of some legislators, who saw an opening to pry concessions out of the newly flush corporation. The sales agreement would automatically be null and void if the legislature passed any new laws mandating scrubbers for the coal plants. That clause allowed legislators to force the utility to the bargaining table. The company's new CEO was different than the old hardline Com-Ed leaders. He was appalled at the intense dislike, even hatred of his company at the Statehouse, and he vowed to improve its image. So, after much negotiation, he agreed to set up a $250 million trust fund that would pay for energy conservation and a limited amount of clean coal technology. Not everyone was happy. One group, the large and influential Illinois Environmental Council, grumbled that the plan didn't go nearly far enough to reduce pollution from the coal-fired plants, which will soon be cranked up all the way to give the new owners a return on their mega investment.

Despite the bad feelings, this was a big win for the greens. And it proves once again that you should never, ever count anyone out in Springfield, because the do-overs are endless.

Governor signs 'Austin's Bill' into law

Biological parents of surrogate children now have the right to appear on child's birth certificate

By Rep. Jay Hoffman

During the state legislative session this spring, the members of the Illinois General Assembly introduced well over 4,000 pieces of legislation. All of these legislative proposals are intended by the sponsor to be for the betterment of the people they represent.

The legislation always broadly addresses every individual in the State of Illinois that falls within the specific parameters of the legislation. However, quite often, the bills that become laws are the ones in which the sponsor can point to a very specific case and to specific individuals to cite the need for the change in the statutes.

I had the honor and the unique opportunity this year to sponsor legislation that will address the situation faced by 10-month-old baby Austin Miller, son of Scott and Vicki Miller of Fairview Heights. Scott and Vicki Miller are the biological parents of Austin, however, Jenny Miller, Scott's sister, served as a surrogate mother. Unfortunately, because Illinois law had not previously addressed surrogate parentage and despite the fact that Jenny Miller was completely supportive of the decision, Vicki Miller was forced to obtain a court order to have the right to appear on her son's birth certificate.

The Miller's contacted our office and sought assistance. As a result of the Miller's request, I introduced House Bill 1370, legislation that would allow the biological parents of surrogate children to be entitled to have their names on their child's birth certificate.

The legislation quickly became known as "Austin's Bill."

After hearing the story of Austin's Bill, my colleagues in the Illinois House and Senate overwhelmingly passed the legislation. The legislation was then sent to the Governor's Office for consideration, and I shared Austin's story with the Governor's Office. The governor recently signed House Bill 1370 into law.

One of the most gratifying aspects of serving in the state legislature is helping families, like the Miller's, with specific problems. Austin's Bill, now a part of Illinois statutes, will serve other families who face similar problems in the future.

If you have any questions regarding this legislation, please feel free to contact me. My Collinsville office is located at 126 Vandalla, Suite 1 and can be reached at 345-2176.

Collinsville office hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Wednesday evenings will be open from 5:30 to 7 p.m., and Saturday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon.

Letter to the editor

TO THE EDITOR:
 The purpose of this letter is primarily to address the Collinsville City Sign Ordinance. What is the problem with placing a sign on private property with the resident's permission? The current ordinance allows signs at the site of the sale only. Those conducting a yard sale depend on the signs to help increase their sales, while those shopping watch for signs to direct them to the location of the sale.

I see real estate signs and advertisements for auctions a month in advance of the sale on easements every weekend; and signs advertising job opportunities, weight loss, etc., fastened to utility poles. Also residents are limited to three sales per year while vendors are allowed to set up and sell their wares at busy intersections every weekend. During Mayor Vince Kutzera's term, he and his council were preparing to review the sign ordinance with the possibility of allowing residents more latitude in the placement of yard sale signs in prominent places, since they are removed after two or three days. However, since the election of Mayor Schaeffer and Councilmen Meyer and Bartsch, the ordinance has not been addressed.

At the workshop of July 19, two citizens attempted to address the council, but were silenced because their topics didn't happen to be on the agenda that night. Our freedom of speech is one more thing that Mayor Schaeffer and the council have taken away from us. Mayor Schaeffer has been instrumental in changing many of the good things that were effective during Mayor Kutzera's term. It would be nice if Mayor Schaeffer and the council would look at these issues and do something that is in the best interest of the tax-paying citizens of Collinsville for a change.

Church offering Y2K seminar Friday

Son-Life Church in Collinsville is offering a seminar this week that will provide information on the latest developments regarding the Y2K situation.

The seminar, titled "The Y2K Informational Seminar," takes place in the church's auditorium from 7 to 9 p.m.

Friday.

The church, located at 1203 Vandavia, has held a series of related seminars throughout the year, but sponsors say this one promises to be especially insightful.

Cathy Voegelé, department head of the church's Collinsville Emergency Relief Center, said the focus is different for this one.

"Other seminars we've conducted have been related to how to prepare for emergency situations related to Y2K. This one is kind of an informational update on the situation, based on a variety of perspectives," she said.

Dale L. Vanausdall of Edwardsville will provide a brief view of the progress made by financial institutions and its effect on the consumer. He will offer preparation tips.

Granite firm sued over environmental allegations
Wastewater dumped in Arlington, suit says

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The Madison County State's Attorney's office and the Illinois Attorney General have filed a three-count civil complaint against a Granite City company alleging that it violated environmental regulations for wastewater treatment in the Arlington Heights subdivision in Pontoon Beach.

The complaint was filed July 22 at the Madison County Courthouse and seeks up to $50,000 in fines for each of the alleged violations.

Named in the complaint were Chris Lilley and the Arlington Heights Utilities Inc. The subdivision includes approximately 154 single-family residences, 120 apartment units and two commercial buildings, with a total population of about 800 people.

According to court documents, the complaint was made at the request of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

The complaint alleges that during a 1997 review of the company's permit, it had not submitted required groundwater samples.

It also found that the company's permit for land application of sludge had expired and semi-annual reports had not been submitted.

IEPA officials later determined that the company also did not have a certified operator, and violation notices were issued by IEPA on Dec. 3, 1997.

The company hired an outside company to operate the facility.

A June 1998 inspection showed severe problems at the treatment facility, and the contractor terminated the contract in September 1998 "due to substandard conditions at the facility."

Later inspections showed the same problems.

Lilley could not be reached for comment.

In addition to the $50,000 fine, the suit also seeks up to $10,000 per day in fines for each violation, and attorneys' fees.

However, Elizabeth Ann Pitrolo, the attorney handling the case for the Attorney General's office, said those were the maximum fines and not realistic.

The subdivision has also been the subject of a long-standing civil suit over flooding. A resolution to that suit, filed by residents in the subdivision, was reportedly in the works, but details were unavailable.

Venice may put teeth into adult business ordinance
Special council meeting scheduled tonight

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The Venice City Council will meet tonight to consider adopting a version of Madison County's obscenity ordinance.

At Tuesday's meeting, Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols said the move was being made to give the city's ordinances "more teeth" in dealing with a massage parlor expected to begin operation soon.

The meeting is set for 6 p.m. today, Thursday.

The ordinance had been prepared for Tuesday's meeting, but City Attorney Casper Nighossian wanted aldermen to read some documents before considering the ordinance.

Echols called the special meeting so it could be acted on quickly.

"I really hate to wait," Echols said. "A lot of things can happen in 14 days."

"A Rare Touch," a business offering massage and "aromatherapy," is being planned for 609 Broadway. Venice resident Lemell Johnson Jr., who has a criminal record including a conviction for involuntary manslaughter and possession of a firearm by a felon, was the shooting death of a 13-year-old Venice girl in 1994.

He was recently given a business license to sell incense and other products at that location, formerly a dentist's office.

However, a sign at the business said it would also offer massage "by appointment" and that an ATM machine would be on the premises.

At its last meeting, residents presented the council with a petition against the business signed by about 200 residents.

The city had passed an ordinance regulating sex-related businesses earlier this year, but Echols said the county ordinance would be stricter.

That ordinance was approved by the county several years ago when adult-oriented businesses started popping up along Interstate 55.

Venice is located near Brooklyn, known for its massage parlors and strip clubs.

Choats pin down special relationship

Father, son sharpening their bowling skills for inaugural State Games of America competition

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Randy and Tristan Choats are two of the better bowlers in the Metro East. It must be in the genes.

Tristan is 14 and has been bowling for three years. He was named the Junior Bowler of the Year for 1998 in the Major Division before moving up to the Classic Division this year. "He has done really well," Randy said. "He has really picked the game up faster than I thought he would. He is a quick learner. I would like to think the coaching had something to do with it, but a kid is only as good as a bowler as he is a listener. I like to make him think. Why did this happen? I want to instill in him the idea that if he bowls bad, there is a rea-

Tristan and Randy Choats both will be testing their poise and skills while rolling for the gold this weekend in the inaugural State Games of America. Competition is set for St. Claire Bowl in Belleville.

"He always tells me to keep a cool head," Tristan said, "and don't get too upset if I do badly. I just need to stay focused. He tells me what I am doing wrong and he'll show me what to do. I'll go up to the foul line and watch him. More often than not, I'll see what I am doing wrong and correct it."

Edwardsville faces familiar field at state tournament

By Louie Korac
Staff writer

Just like a year ago, Edwardsville Post 199 manager Ken Schaeke had little knowledge about his opponent or the rest of the field heading into the American Legion state tournament. "Who needs to scout the opposition, anyway? Post 199 went 4-0 in Highland last year en route to the 1998 national championship."

Fifth Division champion Edwardsville (30-6) opened tournament play Wednesday in Evanston at Northwestern University's Wells Field against Danville Post 210, champions of the Fourth Division for the third consecutive season.

Post 199 ready for rematch against Fourth Division champ Danville

Danville and Edwardsville met in the first round last year and Post 199 won 12-2 behind the pitching of Ben Hutton and a five-RBI effort by Matt Evers. Edwardsville downed Danville 12-2 in eight innings — but that was last year.

Edwardsville will have some familiarity with the tournament field.

In addition to Post 199 and Danville, two other teams in the six-team field are back from last year.

Newcomer Glen Ellyn played Arlington Heights to open Wednesday's action, while Rock Island faced host Northbrook in the final game of the day.

Nevertheless, Schaeke said he was clueless about his first opponent.

"I really don't know about them or the rest of the field," he said. "You just try and go out and play one of your good games and feel confident enough that it's good enough to beat who you face."

"This state tournament is almost the same as last year, with the exception of Glen Ellyn and the host, which changes every year. Barrington was in it last year as opposed to Glen Ellyn."

Edwardsville came into Wednesday's action on a 10-game winning streak, with the last four in division play at Eckert Field in Carmi. Edwardsville went 4-0 in Fifth Division play.

Post 199 went through a light workout on Monday night before departing Tuesday morning.

Schaeke said the team met about lodging specifics and other tournament information and did some light hitting and fielding.

"We had more of a meeting tonight, but the kids did some hitting in a cage, hit in the field and fielded some grounders," Schaeke said. "Some of them stuck around and took in some extra hitting."

As if Post 199 needed it. After racking up 68 runs, 77 hits and 16

Metro Stars hope to net medal at first State Games of America

Granite City's Meszaros adds offensive punch to area team's roster

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

The Metro Stars will try to strike gold in the inaugural State Games of America this weekend.

The Stars will compete in the under-17 division of the ice hockey competition. The Stars roster includes some of the top players from the Mississippi Valley Club Hockey Association.

Chuck Donze, coach of the Belleville Althoff Catholic High School hockey club, will coach the Stars. He hand-picked the players for the team.

The Stars open the State Games competition 6:45 p.m. Friday against Pekin at the Webster Groves (Mo.) Recreation Complex. On Saturday, the Stars play a pair on contests 3:30 p.m. against a team from Virginia at the U.S. Ice Sports Complex in Chesterfield (Mo.), and 8:30 p.m. against a team from Pennsylvania at Webster Groves (Mo.).

The medal round is scheduled for Sunday.

"You could say it is an all-star team," Donze said. "We pretty much picked it that way. I sat down and got out my rosters and said, 'If I had to take nine forwards, who would I take? If I had to take six defensemen, who would I take?'"

"Some of my top picks at goalie unfortunately all turned out to be 18," Donze said.

However, Donze believes the Stars should be competitive in the State Games of America.

Up front, the Stars have scoring prowess with Bobby Meszaros (Granite City's Illinois Warriors), Jim Rogers (Bethalto), Nick Gedris (O'Fallon), Patrick Morr (Althoff) and Carl Coleman (Edwardsville).

Meszaros registered 28 goals and 21 assists in MVCHA action last winter. Rogers added 25 goals and 16 assists and "I would take this team in a heart-beat. I'd put these guys up against anybody."

Chuck Donze
Metro Stars coach

Gedris had 18 goals and 24 assists.

Chris Sabo, Robbie Donze and Charlie Klaus — all of Althoff — join Chris Pondoff (Belleville East) as other forwards on the roster.

"They are talented in goal scoring but they all are talented play makers," Donze said. "One fear you have with a team like this is making too many passes trying to make the perfect pass. I don't think they will be hesitant to give up the puck."

"We've had two really good skates. The guys are loose and having a lot of fun. The first two skates the guys have been in high spirits. I think the boys are excited to play in this level of competition."

Donze probably will pair Gus Feldker (Althoff) and Chris Bentler on one line of defense with Brandon Murphy (Collinsville) and Chris Hauka (Althoff) on a second line and Bob Wondolowski (Althoff) and Houston Dare on a third line. All six of the defensemen have shown the ability to step up into the offensive zone to be involved in the play.

The Stars' goaltenders are Andrew Graves and Casey Kicielski.

"I would take this team in a heart beat," Donze said. "I'd put these guys up against anybody. Not only are they talented hockey players, they are all good quality kids to coach."

Grigsby Middle School holding volleyball tryouts

Volleyball tryouts at Grigsby Middle School will begin from 9 a.m. to noon on Aug. 18 at the Grigsby gym for all incoming eighth-graders.

Seventh graders will join the tryouts Aug. 19-20 at the same time and location. Students trying out must have a current physical from their doctor and a parental permission slip.

Permission slips will be available in the Grigsby school office beginning Aug. 16 or may be picked up and signed on the first day of tryouts. Students may not stay for tryouts if they do not have these two documents.

Participants should come prepared to play with suitable gym shoes, T-shirt and shorts. Seventh-graders should have their names on their shirts.

Volleyball coaches for the 1999 season are Connie King and Judy Collins.

Soccer school

Joe Reiniger, the 1996, '97 and '98 most valuable player for the St. Louis Ambush soccer team, will host a soccer school from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Collinsville United Soccer Fields.

The event is designed for boys and girls from ages 6 to 17 and costs $30 per child. The school features skills and games in the morning and a small-sided tournament and scrimmage in the afternoon. Participants should bring a soccer ball, plenty of water and lunch.

Pre-registration is required. For more information, call Reiniger at 345-5093.

Tri-City action

Terry James increased his point lead in the NASCAR Winston Racing Series by winning the July 24 feature event by 20 car lengths.

The race was marred by a first-lap crash on the front straightaway that took out Mike Noll Jr., Terry McClintock and Tony Sarkis.

Also suffering damage were Tom Utley and Craig Smith. These two drivers recovered, however, with Smith finishing second and Utley taking third.

Rounding out the top five were Charles Smith and John Dickerman.

Bobby Regot picked up his first-ever victory in the NASCAR Winston Racing Short Track Series. Regot used his front row starting position and led all 20 laps.

Jerry DeGrenier got by Rick Stevenson Jr. with two laps to go and finished second. Stevenson was second, followed by Wes Weinmann and Tim Barrett.

Chad Naylor and Gary Walker battled hard for the Street Stock win.

Walker got under Naylor in turn four and took the lead with two laps to go. Going into turn one, Naylor bumped Walker out of the groove and got underneath him, making the pass for the win.

Walker was second, Andy Mellettin was third, B.J. Seets fourth and Max Kirkendall fifth.

Bill Whitehead won the Charger feature, while Rick Murphy and Steve Barch won their first two-man Cruiser feature.

were simply not enough of them to sustain the costs of conducting a viable harness meeting."

Zander said the track had difficulties filling the 10-race card in the last few years. Adding the additional eight weeks of thoroughbred racing will strengthen Fairmount's presence in the racing market.

"The nature of the horse racing business has changed dramatically over the last couple of years and we felt it was necessary that going forward we concentrate all of our resources on thoroughbred racing in order to remain competitive on a national basis," Zander said. "As we move into the next century, it will be important for us to produce a quality racing product in order to take advantage of the evolving technologies being made available to the horse racing industry."

"Things such as telephone account betting, 24-hour cable and satellite transmissions, as well as online and interactive PC-based racing and wagering networks are in the process of being developed and Fairmount Park will be in a position to take advantage of them."

home runs four games in Carmi, Schaake likes the offensive approach—keep working at it.

"Some of the success we had (in Fifth Division play) may have been a result of the field we played on," Schaake said. "That's not to say that we didn't hit the ball. There were a few of the home runs we hit that may not have gone out in a bigger park, but we did hit the ball on a line, a lot of line drives and taking the pitches the other way.

"You kind of take the way we've been hitting the ball with a grain of salt. The next field we play on is going to be legitimate (in dimensions), so they may not be able to go for the fences like they were able to do last week."

While Edwardsville's offense erupted like a volcano last week, the pitching also did its part.

Edwardsville ace Nick Seibert (5-2), threw only one inning in the opening game against Harrisburg but removed himself because of stiffness in his back.

Brett Zika, Tim Hansel, Chris Johnson and Jake Schuette all pitched very well in a hitter-friendly ballpark.

"If you'd have told me before (the last tournament) that Nick Seibert would have thrown only one inning—of the first game for that matter—and we would have done the job we did... who would have given Edwardsville much of a chance?" Schaake said. "Zika, although he gave up a lot of hits, gave us the innings we needed, then Hansel came through that night and that got the team pretty fired up. Johnson then did a fine job on a good team in Carterville and "Some of the success we had (in Fifth Division play) may have been a result of the field we played on. That's not to say that we didn't hit the ball."

Ken Schaake
Edwardsville manager

Jake—did I think he'd go the distance, no; but he worked effectively and did quite a number on a team that had four or five left-handers that hit the ball very well. He worked effectively in a park that is not too pitcher-friendly and to allow a team like that only three runs, that's pretty good.

"But the further along you go in the tournament, the pitching and defense will have to play a big role. Teams are gonna get tougher, but I can't put into words what (the pitchers) did down there."

While Schaake doesn't know much about Danville's team this year, he did recall the team of last year.

"They were an aggressive team on the bases and at the plate as well," he said. "Fortunately, we had Ben Hutton on top of his game that day. From what I can remember, they had only a couple left-handed bats, which would work to our advantage."

"These are going to be pretty tough teams to go through. They're all here for a reason. We'll have to play good baseball if we'll continue our season."

As for pitching, Seibert's status would be a game-time decision as to whether he would throw Wednesday. Schaake said Seibert felt fine all week, but needed mound work to test his motion.

Schuetz (7-1), Johnson (6-2), Zika (6-1) and Hansel (5-1) will likely see action. Seibert was trying to extend a 10-for-10 streak that he started in Carmi, where he was 15 for 20 for the tournament. He went 5 for 5 in each of the last two games. Matt Bogle and Hansel have also led a charge offensively, with Adam Bernaia, Matt Turner (three home runs on July 29), Ryan Peterson, Chris McCoy, Todd Spitzer, Andrew Honnegger and Travis Riggs.

The winner Wednesday faces the Glen Ellyn-Arlington Heights winner today at 12:30 p.m., with the loser falling into the losers bracket and playing at 9 a.m. Thursday morning against the Glen Ellyn-Arlington Heights loser.

the Metro East for years. "I have had some moderate success," Randy said. "I just turned 50, so I am looking forward to possibly joining the Senior PBA Tour."

First, however, he'll concentrate on making a name for himself in the State Games of America.

"This is a much bigger deal than I even thought it was," Randy said. "A lot of states have things like the Prairie State Games you have to go through in order to qualify. I think you have to have some luck, but you also have to have some talent to make it through. There are probably 70 or 80 people in my division.

"Tristan is getting excited. We have already made it this far and hope to make the most of it. We have been in these kinds of things before, so we should be OK."

"It's pretty cool to bowl with my dad," Tristan said. "I hope to bring home the gold. I think my dad's chances are pretty good, too."

Randy will compete in the men's division while Tristan is grouped with some older bowlers in the 13-19-year-old division.

"He may have a tougher time of it in his group than I will in mine," Randy said. "I hope my division is scratch instead of handicapped, but it will probably be handicapped. We have both bowled in that house before, so we have that one slight advantage. There will be people from 44 states who haven't got that advantage."

"It's for fun. It's in the summer time and it's all about good, family fun."

For the Schaakes, family fun is what bowling is all about.

"I get a kick out of bowling with Tristan," Randy said. "It's really a good time for the family to bowl and then go out to dinner afterwards. We are really lucky to have an understanding wife and mother on our side. The AMF is also very family-oriented. They are interested in getting the whole family involved."

FEUD OF THE WEEK

Dale Earnhardt Jr. vs. Todd Bodine

This one got started two weeks ago and is going to linger. At Pikes Peak (Fountain, Colo.), the young Bodine put the younger Earnhardt in the wall, costing him the Busch Grand National point lead. It only for a week.

Was Dale Jr. mad? Oh yeah.
"I'll hold a grudge over this, until, well, you know," said Earnhardt. "They say what comes around usually goes back around. ... Everybody else got by us, but that cue-ball-headed fool (Bodine) can't get by us without wrecking us. ... He's 40 years old (actually 35) and still driving Busch cars. That ought to tell you something."

NASCAR This Week's Monte Dutton gives his opinion: "The handlers haven't domesticated 'Little E' yet. And he came back to win the next race (Saturday at Gateway). You've got to like that."

PROFILE

Dale Earnhardt Jr.

By Monte Dutton
NASCAR This Week

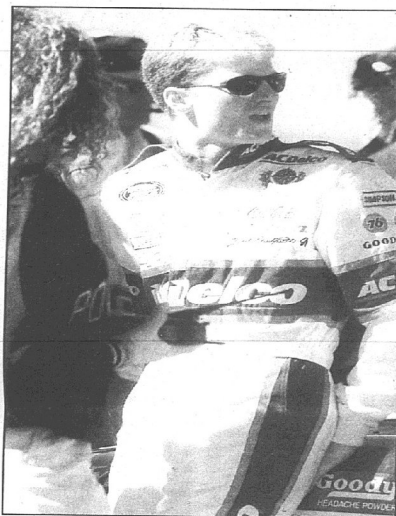

Despite the pressure that comes with being the son of a seven-time Winston Cup champion, Dale Earnhardt Jr. has passed all tests on his way to NASCAR stardom.

In his first two Winston Cup starts, the "second coming of Dale" has excelled at qualifying. He was the eighth qualifier at his first Winston Cup try (Charlotte in May) and started 13th at the recent race in New Hampshire. "Little E" also won the Busch Grand National championship in 1998, his first full year on the circuit.

AGE: 24
HOMETOWN: Born in Kannapolis, N.C., lives in Mooresville, N.C.
MARITAL STATUS: Single
CAR: No. 8 Budweiser Chevrolet Monte Carlo, owned by Dale and Teresa Earnhardt
RECORD: 2 starts, 0 wins, 0 poles, 0 top-five finishes, 0 top-10s, nearly $100,000 in career earnings
FIRSTS: Start (May 30, 1999, at Charlotte), pole (none), win (none)

HOW DO YOU COPE WITH ALL OF THE PRESSURE? "The only thing that saves me is, I feel like I'm always getting pointed in the right direction. You know, you need to be here, you need to be there. I've got a lot of good people helping me. It prepares me for things like press conferences and things. I really trust those people. They wouldn't put me in a situation where I'd totally bomb out. I'm a race-car driver. I'm not a spokesperson. I'm not an actor. They're waiting for you to say something stupid, and I'm trying to disappoint them."

WHAT IS THE SECRET OF YOUR BUSCH GRAND NATIONAL SUCCESS? "We have such a close bond, a close relationship, that I still see the enjoyment out of it. I think I enjoy driving a race car more than anybody on the racetrack. I just enjoy driving a race car. I can't tell you how much fun it is."

DO YOU THINK YOU'RE READY FOR WINSTON CUP? "I know how tough it is, if that's what you mean. It'll be years before I can look over to (crew chief) Tony Eury and say, 'Tony, I think we're good for the pole.' You don't say that kind of thing; even if you are thinking it, you don't say it."

Trackside Trivia

- Who is the only driver to win the Daytona 500 without changing tires?
- Who was the oldest winner of Winston Cup's rookie-of-the-year award?
- Who was the first Ford driver to win the Brickyard 400?

1. Tiny Lund in 1963. 2. Dick Trickle, of age 48. 3. Dale Earnhardt in 1996.

Your Turn

Letters From Our Readers

Dear NASCAR This Week,
Here is what we think would be a way for NASCAR to level the playing field a little and tighten up the championship race.

- Put D.W. back in a Chevy.
- Put Ernie Ivan back in a Ford.
- Put Rusty Wallace back in a Pontiac.
- Put Jeff Gordon back in a sprint car.

Jim Duffy
Basking, N.Y.

While we're at it, why not put Harry Gant back in an Oldsmobile?

Dear NASCAR This Week,

Why don't concrete tracks have as much traction as asphalt tracks do?

Kyle Lavioie
Fall River, Mass.

The rubber in the tires adheres better to an asphalt surface.

Dear NASCAR This Week,

How do you decide what cars get (in-car) cameras each week? Is it qualifying positions? How many cameras (are) installed around a track?

James K. Edward Hereford, Ariz.

All such decisions are made by the company or network that televises each event. In some cases, sponsors pay to have cameras installed in certain cars.

Fan Tips

■ Jim Duffy runs an outfit called, Carving Music (P.O. Box 47, Basking, N.Y. 12008) and has put together an auto racing album that deals with action from Winston Cup to the dirt tracks. In marked contrast to many musical works designed to capitalize on NASCAR's growth, this one isn't half bad. For more information, call (518) 686-4853.

A day at the faire

Renaissance festival brings medieval merriment to SIUE

The sun beat down on the Middle Kingdom as the king and his court made their way through the village, a part of the Barony of the Shattered Crystal.

Minstrels plucked and played as knights and swordsmen battled for honor, practice or just for fun. Artisans and merchants prepared their shops in anticipation of a busy day; and wandering peddlers plied roses, pies and pickles on the townsfolk.

Two wandering foolies - who called themselves Dim and Half, the Wit brothers - sought alms for the stupid, and promised to amaze people by laying on a bed of nails later.

Fairies wandered the village, hovering around the royalty and booing a fighter who vowed an aversion to fairie-folk, calling them demons.

Part history, education, recreation, fantasy and freakishness, the Southern Illinois Renaissance Festival has returned.

The festival, a fund-raiser for the Trails West Council, Boy Scouts of America, drew about 1,500 people for its first weekend at Southern Illinois University Edwardsville. The festival continues this weekend.

While hot, the temperature wasn't as bad as expected, something Scout Executive Don Kinney was thankful for.

"The weather is cooperating and it's overcast, which is keeping the temperatures down," he said early Saturday.

"This is a really unique family show," he said. "We've got more than 100 entertainers, and twice as many vendors. And we've added jousting as well as some comedy acts."

Others took a more detached view of the heat.

"Since God has decided that we have heat, who am I to argue with him?" said Queen Verity, who was on a procession throughout the kingdom with her husband King Valerian and his court. "So we bless him for shining down on us so thoroughly and drink lots of water."

The fair - patterned after a 1550s summer festival - included jousting, combat demonstrations, musical and comedic entertainment, and a variety of crafts and other booths.

Many of the participants were members of the local chapters of the Society For Creative Anachronism, dedicated to the recreation of medieval and Renaissance life. The Illinois chapter is the Barony of Shattered Crystal, the Missouri chapter the Barony of Three Rivers.

Mike Fuchs of Belleville, known as Carrick McCuaghaigh in the society, was giving armored combat demonstrations.

His equipment, including helmet, shield and weapon, weighs about 85 pounds, and includes a thick layer of cloth padding under his armor.

"We drink lots of fluids," he said. "That's why we have ladies and gents who supply us with drinks."

He also said training helps.

"We train a lot," he said. "I've been wearing this for 10 years, I'm pretty much used to it."

He has been a member for 11 years.

"I originally went to a science fiction convention and was asking about something in his said. 'From that, I wanted to find out more. I found out there was the fighting and the arts and sciences. That just hooked me.'"

For combat demonstrations, he said safety is very important.

"We want to kill our friends, not hurt them," he said. "We go through a lot of training to be authorized in each weapon style."

"We try to stress that someone doesn't pick up a trash can lid and a broom stick and go out and hit their little brother or sister with it," he added.

In addition to demonstrations, the society also had a tent showing how nobles traveled.

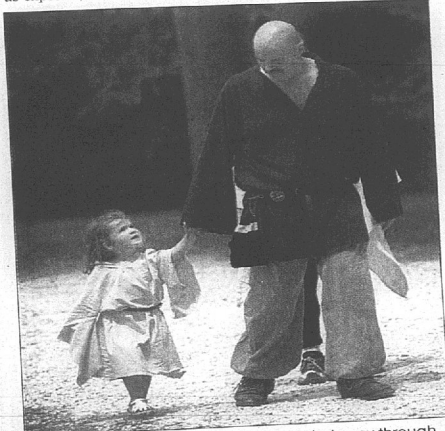

"When people of nobility went on trips to visit people and whatnot, they would take all the necessities with them," said Judith Ogilvie of Belleville, also known as Aislinn Gwyneth. "All the furniture was made to break down totally flat so it would fit into the bed of a wagon."

Basically all of the comfort of home while we travel."

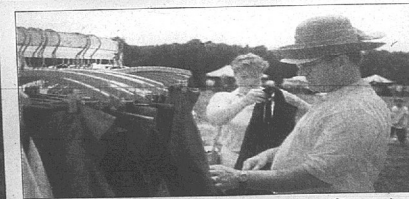

Traveling would usually include large numbers of servants, depending on rank.

"The kings and queens would have princesses and sons and daughters of barons and counts to serve in their court, so even the servants had servants," she said. "If you go over to England and see the castles, you have to imagine them full of people."

The fair will continue Saturday and Sunday at the Cougar Lake Recreation Area of SIUE. Tickets are $7.50 for adults, $5 for senior citizens, SIUE students and children 5-16, and $3.50 for scouts. Children under 5 are free. For information call the Trails West Council at 255-2145.

At top: The king and his court make their way through the Southern Illinois Renaissance Festival at SIUE. Above, Jim Dorethy of Edwardsville and his daughter Jocelyn, 2, walk along the village path. Dorethy is a member of the Society for Creative Anachronism. Above right, members of the royal court and other spectators. Left, Teresa Roberts of St. Louis, also known as Lady Rowan of three rivers, does needlework during the festival. Far left, Steve DeMaster of St. Louis and Janet Baldwin of Belleville shop at a clothiers tent.

Trekkers seeking walkers

Lace up those walking shoes and get ready to hit the walking trail with the Illinois Trekkers Volkssport Club of Belleville.

The Illinois Trekkers, the premier walking club in the local area, moves into the best part of the annual walking schedule with three outstanding walks during September. All walks are non-competitive, family oriented and participants walk at their own pace. The walks are sanctioned by the American Volkssport Association and are eligible for IVV credit.

The first walk will be held on Saturday, Sept. 11 at Chester in conjunction with the 20th Annual Popeye Picnic festival. This 10 kilometer (6.2 mile) walk will start between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. at Kippis Plaza (Pizza Hut) located on Highway 3 entering Chester and will take walkers through city streets and many of the Popeye Picnic festivities including the Popeye Parade at 11:30 a.m. which is one of Southern Illinois finest parades. Walkers may obtain a 3 and one-half inch commemorative patch for $5 if pre-registered ($6 on day of event), or may walk for "credit only" for a $2.

The following weekend the club hosts its second walk in Cahokia on Saturday, Sept. 18 in conjunction with the city's celebration of its 300th anniversary. This 10 kilometer (6.2 mile) walk will start between 8 a.m. and 11 a.m. at the Holy Family School, 116 Church Street, Cahokia, and will take participants past numerous historical sites including the Holy Family Log Church, the Cahokia Courthouse and the Jarrot Mansion. This is a "credit only" event which may be walked for a $2 fee.

The club finishes off its September walk schedule with a walk on Saturday, Sept. 25 in conjunction with the Annual Belleville Oktoberfest. This 10 kilometer (6.2 mile) walk will start between 8 a.m. and noon at Hough Park located at 3rd and "C" Streets in Belleville.

Metro East area great for amusement parks

By Val McDowell
Staff writer

You don't have to go too far in the Madison and St. Clair county areas to enjoy the benefits of amusement park fun on a smaller scale.

John Shaer, part-owner of Centerfield Park Inc. at 5620 Old Collinsville Road in O'Fallon, said smaller-scale parks offer a good opportunity for a pleasant family outing.

Shaer established Centerfield in 1988 and it is open from March 1 to Oct. 31 each year. The park offers a variety of attractions, including go cart tracks, batting cages, a snack bar and miniature golfing.

"It's really a pretty nice mix. I think we're very fortunate in that we bring in a lot of families. We work real hard to keep it spotlessly Disney-type clean," Shaer said.

The park sits on 22 acres of property and is open from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. It has about 40 employees.

"I think people can just come out, spend a couple hours, everybody can have fun together. It's a very family oriented type of atmosphere," Shaer said. New to the facility this year are "kidz kartz," "pedal boats" and "nas kartz." It also offers bumper boats for those who want to "crash and splash."

For more information on Centerfield call the facility at 624-7074.

Family Fun Tyme at 8 Gateway in Collinsville has been open for approximately two years.

Courtney Staroba, an employee of the amusement center, said it offers a variety of fun time activities for the family at reasonable prices.

"There is no admission fee to get in, but there are various charges for the activities we have," Staroba said.

Highlighted features include two 18-hole miniature golf courses, an arcade and go carts.

"As many people can golf as would like to. The prices are $4.50 per person ages 4 and up; 3-9 are $4 and under 3 is free," Staroba said.

The go carts are available at $4.50 for adults and $1 for a passenger ticket.

"To drive the carts there are some requirements. The driver needs to be 10 years old and 54 inches tall," Staroba said.

Passengers can be as young as 3 years old and 36 inches tall.

Tokens are available to those who want to play the games in the arcade.

Family Fun Tyme's hours Sunday through Thursday are 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., and Friday and Saturday 11 a.m. to midnight.

Owners Bill Schiber and Pete Demster also own the Family Fun Tyme at 1 Schiber Court in Maryville. For more information, contact the park at 344-7747 or the Maryville location at 288-7747.

Formula 1 Fun Park at 5833 West Illinois 161 in Belleville offers similar activities seven days a week from noon to midnight.

Jenny Feurer, whose father Dennis Feurer owns the operation, said they offer reasonably priced batting cages, go carts and an 18-hole miniature golf course as well.

"One thing we're excited about is that hopefully within the next few weeks we will have mini-go carts available for the public," Feurer said.

The business underwent new ownership in the past year; it was formerly known as "Weilbacher's Amusement Park."

For more information, contact the park at 394-1390.

Those looking to practice their golf swing may want to consider a new establishment called, "The Practice Tee" which opened at 5628 Old Collinsville Road just over a month ago.

Co-owner Randy Phillips said that the facility offers ideal grounds for practicing a short game, and they have three different size buckets of range balls to choose from.

"You can come and stay as long or as little as you want," Phillips said.

The Practice Tee is open seven days a week, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. It also offers golfing lessons. Phillips said to call for appointments and pricing at 632-8902.

MetLife representative Neil R. Yontz will present an educational seminar, "Long-Term and Extended Care Options," on Saturday, Aug. 7, at 1 p.m., and again on Sunday, Aug. 15 at 1 p.m. at Borders Books & Music, 6601

N. Illinois/Route 159, Fairview Heights. Topics to be discussed are: the difference between long-term and extended care arrangements, choices in ways to pay for long-term care, odds of needing long-term care, the cost of facilities and services in the MetroEast and the government "spend down" process.

Yontz has worked in the medical industry for 24 years marketing and instructing physicians and hospital professionals in the use of specialized equipment. He first became aware of the need for long-term care insurance when his own mother entered a nursing home upon doctor's advice. She did not have insurance to pay the $3,000 monthly cost.

Betty White one of 'Placid's' few drawbacks

Horror picture with laughs? It was not unusual in the era of big comics, when audiences gasped and guffawed at such films as "The Cat and the Canary" (Bob Hope), and "Abbott and Costello Meet Frankenstein."

"Lake Placid" is something different. It is played by straight actors, not comics, and the scary portions are quite horrifying.

The key figure is David E. Kelley, who wrote the script and co-produced. As the prolific creator of TV's "Picket Fences," "Chicago Hope," "The Practice" and "Ally McBeal," he has an acute sense of the outrageous. And what could be more outrageous than the premise of "Lake Placid": a rampaging, 30-foot, warm-water crocodile in a Maine lake?

Reports of this misplaced reptile draw the attention of four people: fish and game warden Jack Wells (Bill Pullman); New York-based paleontologist Kelly Scott (Bridget Fonda); blustery sheriff Hank Keough (Brendan Gleeson); and wealthy mythology expert Hector Cyr (Oliver Platt).

This bickering quartet could become tiresome except for Kelley's deft touch with dialogue. The humorous exchanges allow a perfect counterpoint to the terror.

The crocodile is indeed scary, thanks to the special effects of Stan Winston and his famed creature-making studio. They have provided the thrills in a long list of films, including "Aliens," "Predator," "The Terminator" (and sequel), "Judgment Day" and "Jurassic Park."

The human actors are right on target as well. Pullman, with his squinty eyes and half-smile, fits the material to perfection, and Fonda shows a fine talent for comedy.

Irish actor Gleeson avoids the stereotype of the rural sheriff; he could have a busy career in Hollywood. Platt gives another of his cleverly eccentric performances.

The only discordant note is Betty White as a croc-loving crone. How she must have Brendan Gleeson fires at a 30-foot crocodile in a scene from the Twentieth Century Fox and Phoenix Pictures release, "Lake Placid."

blushed at her crude dialogue. The 83-minute running time must make "Lake Placid" the shortest major film in years. It is refreshing to watch a movie at a desirable length instead of some of the bloated epics that run an hour too long. The rating is R — there's rough language.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, AUG. 5
TODAY'S BIRTHDAY. You're now entering a new cycle where impressive improvements can be made, both socially and materially. The year ahead could be one of many favorable circumstances.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is an excellent day for negotiations of all types, whether they are with business associates or someone who is dear to your heart. If something needs to be discussed, do so now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Aside from the great pride you'll take in a job well done, there is a possibility of peripheral advantages that come along with it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Successful measures can be taken today to improve a couple of friendships that might need a little shoring up. Now is the time to butter up that person with whom you'd like to get closer.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Good changes that affect your financial wherewithal could be on the way. However, if they do not come through today, be patient. They're coming.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You always have a way with words, but today this talent may be at a high point. You could be especially effective in matters that require intricate communication skills.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Instead of bluntly voicing your demands today, use the soft sell or understate your requests.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your strong leadership skills may be needed today for something in which you're involved that has potential benefits for all concerned.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you become aware of someone today who sorely needs some assistance, allow your nobler and gentler instincts to prevail.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) What you say, how you act and even what you wear could be closely scrutinized by those with whom you'll be involved.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) When it comes to material matters, you'll be in your bailiwick, especially when they involve family or home needs, so don't hesitate to handle the checkbook today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It may not come out of a textbook or be learned from a teacher, but you could be in store for a very constructive learning experience resulting from a personal encounter today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A profitable situation that's brought to your attention today could use your special input.

Death rumors untrue

Trivia

Kevin Carbery

By Kevin Carbery
Staff writer

Senor Wences, the ventriloquist who used to appear on "The Ed Sullivan Show," died on April 20 at the age of 103. I was shocked. I could have sworn the guy had passed away 20 years ago.

As a regular on "The Entertainment and Trivia Show" on KMOX every other Sunday night, I hear questions about celebrity deaths all the time. People will call in wanting to know if an older actor or sports figure is still around or has moved on to the next world.

It is not easy to keep up with the status of each and every famous person.

Part of the problem is there is so much misinformation put out through the Internet. When the rock music critic Robert Palmer died a while back, many people erroneously spread the word that it was the rock singer Robert Palmer, known for the song "Addicted to Love." The singer is still around, though he hasn't had a hit in years. Wild rumors have been around since the dawn of time, but the Internet allows them to move about at a lightning pace. Another piece of inaccurate news that hit computer screens was that actor Scott Baio bought the same day comedian Chris Farley died. While Farley actually did die, Baio is still alive, at least at the moment I am writing this column.

The subject of this week's

trivia quiz is deaths of famous people. Although it is a morbid topic, it seems to be one of great interest.

Please keep in mind that celebrities do not always tell the truth about their dates of birth. Therefore, it sometimes happens that different sources have different age listings for public figures. If you find another age for someone listed below, chances are that person tried to appear younger than they actually were at some point in their lives.

1. Of Freddie Prinze, Buddy Holly and James Dean, who was the oldest at the time of his death?

2. Sports figures Knute Rockne, Roberto Clemente and Thurman Munson all died in what way?

3. Who shot and killed President James Garfield?

4. Which member of the Bowery Boys died on Jan. 30 of this year?

5. Although many still believe Elvis Presley is alive, his official date of death is what?

6. Of actresses Maureen O'Sullivan, Elsa Lanchester and Betty Davis, who lived the longest?

7. Entertainers Ernie Kovacs, Jayne Mansfield and baseball player/manager Billy Martin all perished in what manner?

8. Who shot and killed President William McKinley?

9. Sports team owner Carroll Rosenbloom, poet Percy Bysshe Shelley and actor Joe Flynn all died in what way?

10. On Sept. 7, 1997, which rap singer was gunned down in Las Vegas?

ANSWERS: 1. Dean, who was 24. The other two were 22. 2. Plane crashes. 3. Charles Guiteau, a disgruntled office seeker, in 1881. 4. Huntz Hall, who played Satch. 5. Aug. 16, 1977. 6. O'Sullivan, who lived to the age of 87. Lanchester made it to 84 and Davis to 81. 7. Auto accidents. 8. Leon Czolgosz, an anarchist, in 1901. 9. Drowning. 10. Tupac Shakur, who died six days after being shot.

Kevin Carbery can be heard as a regular on "The Entertainment and Trivia Show" at 10 p.m. Sundays on KMOX Radio (1120 AM).

and will take participants along the Richland Creek Greenway, through city streets, and through Oktoberfest activities. This is also a "credit only" event which may be walked for a $2 fee.

Other upcoming Illinois Trekker events are scheduled for Oct. 10 at Eckert's Orchards, Oct. 17 at Edwardsville (LeClair), Nov. 13 at Our Lady of the Snows, and a New Year's Eve Walk in Granite City on Dec. 31. The Granite City walk will also celebrate World Walking Day, an IVV world wide walking event, with a special stamp and certificate for all participants completing the walk. Tentative plans also call for a World Walking Day walk on Jan. 1 to usher in a new walking century.

For additional information on these and other walking events in the Metro-East area please contact Tom at (618) 233-6348, Leonard at (618) 632-4164, or Shirley at (618) 337-5247.

'Inspector Gadget' intelligent children's movie

John Brown (Matthew Broderick) wants to be a hero — a hero, cop, to be exact. Trouble is, he's a polyester-clad security guard at a place called the Bradford Research Facility — a near-schlub whose only heroic triumphs happen when he's asleep and dreaming.

Then he gets a chance. Crooks — of the old-fashioned, revel-in-evil, take-over-the-world variety — blow up his car with him in it as they try to steal cyborg technology from the Bradford building. Presto! Brenda Bradford (Joely Fisher), the research scientist whose father, Artemus (Rene Auberjonois), was murdered by the thugs, has found the perfect cyborg guinea pig.

He's operated on with wrenches and mousetraps, and when he wakes up, he's no longer human but sort of an 8-year-old's slapstick idea of the Six Million Dollar Man (hey, this DID start out as a Saturday-morning cartoon).

All he has to do is say "Go-Go Gadget" and he sprouts whatever he wants out of his body — skis or giant springs for feet, a grappling hook out of his head, a cigarette lighter and a toothbrush from his fingers.

Understandably, John is none too pleased about this development. "I'm not me anymore," he laments. "I'm a hardware store."

But it's some consolation when his dream is realized and he's named the new supercop of the Riverton, Ohio, police force. They dub him "Inspector Gadget" and give him a trench coat, a fedora and a souped-up talking car (voiced by D.L. Hughley). Chief Quimby (Dabney Coleman) and his men, however, are none too pleased. "Columbo, Nintendo, all rolled into one," Quimby grumbles.

What ensues is a latter-day Keystone Kops escapade involving the supervillain, the handsome and claw-handed Sanford Scolex (Rupert Everett) and his henchpeople Kramer (the manic Andy Dick of "NewsRadio") and Sikes

(the wonderfully droll chubby sidekick Michael G. Hagerty). They try to co-opt Brenda, steal her research and build an evil Inspector Gadget (also Broderick, apparently digitally enhanced) to dispatch the good version and foment chaos.

Being a Disney picture (a fact that is referred to WITHIN the movie, by the way), this is a sweet, good-natured story. It would be easy to dismiss it as irrelevant fluff, but that would be way too stodgy. Unlike most live-action versions of cartoons, which are intended largely as nostalgia cruises, this is not a look back. It's a film for kids that adults may or may not enjoy.

And, for a children's movie, it's quite intelligent. It's got a sidekick who says things to the boss like, "I wish you'd be more specific." It's got absurd lines like, "Et tu, Sikes?" And it's got a wonderful mini-spoof of the old Toho Godzilla flicks and their creature-fleeing crowds running through a burning Riverton (actually Pittsburgh, standing in for the fictional town). It's even got an "English Patient" joke.

It also offers, on a kid's canvas, a portrait of what technology means to the human body in the late 1990s. John Brown isn't at all pleased about becoming a machine; his adjustment to it is slow and bumpy, but he adjusts. It's interesting to see how this is presented for kids. It's sensitive while still managing to be lighthearted; when Inspector Gadget makes the cover of The Sharper Image catalog, you know he's made it both as human and machine.

And look for veteran character actress Frances Bay and Cheri Oteri of "Saturday Night Live" in funny cameos. The talented teen-age actress Michelle Trachtenberg ("Harriet the Spy") gives kids someone with whom to identify.

For kids, "Inspector Gadget" is an upbeat movie with a cute plot and some fun things to watch. If Hollywood must make a live-action cartoon, this is the way to do it.

"Inspector Gadget," a Walt Disney Pictures release, is rated PG.
